

WHAT DOES YVONNE ALLEN AND ASSOCIATES OFFER THAT INTERNET DATING FAILS TO PROVIDE?

Internet dating sites do not establish the bona fides of their users who can easily misrepresent themselves. There are countless stories of those who have spent a large amount of time and considerable money only to feel very disappointed because they have either been continually rejected or have ended up meeting people who have misrepresented their age, build, marital status or whatever.

Yvonne Allen clients have been interviewed personally by the consultancy. Perhaps this explains why in more than 34 years there has not been an instance of serious misrepresentation - something that is commonplace on the web.

Our clients are valued as individuals and our introduction programmes are tailored to their individual requirements. A computer does not care.

I am a registered psychologist and my consultants have a breadth of experience in the area of human relations...expertise a computer cannot offer!

Through our interview and profiling process we assist our clients to gain insights into what it is that they are really looking for in someone special and then select people who are potentially compatible. Our skills cannot be 'computerised'.

For many of our clients, completing our interview and profiling process and then providing feedback after introductions has been invaluable in clarifying their relationship needs and expectations. Often a client will tell us that they have come to realise that they had been placing emphasis on the wrong things when looking for Mr/Ms Right. Online dating does not encourage such insights!

Clients of Yvonne Allen and Associates only meet if they choose to do so after reading an in depth profile. Information provided on the web is not as comprehensive or relevant.

Photos are what usually attract interest on a dating site...and often the photos are out of date, creating expectations that lead to disappointment. While not dismissing the importance of chemistry, clients of Yvonne Allen and Associates do not usually see photos. Many couples who have met the Yvonne Allen way and then married have said that they would not have chosen each other if they had seen photos!

Unlike dating websites, we guarantee a minimum number of introductions.

Yvonne Allen and Associates only accepts clients we know we can assist. The web is open to all comers!

Our clients appreciate that our consultants provide support and helpful feedback. It can be an alienating and lonely experience to search unsuccessfully for a partner online.

Over the years more than 70% of our clients have developed a relationship after meeting the Yvonne Allen way...and all have had the opportunity to become more aware of what it is they really seek in a partner and a relationship. It is doubtful that online dating could claim such success!